PECUNIARY POULTICE.

What Catharine Nolan Wants for Her Lacerated Heart.

Leroy Clark Asked to Hand Over a Cool Three Thousand.

Catharine Nolan is the last aggrieved female to apply to the courts for balm for her lacerated affections; glue, as it were, for her lacerated heart. In the superior court to-day she filed a complaint against Leroy Clark, in which she sets forth, in proper legal phraseology, at on the 1st day of last June she laid her loving head upon Leroy's manly bizzum and promised to be his, or words to that effect. At the same time he placed his arm about her sylph-like form, drew her to his heart and swore 'pon his word and honor to be hers. It was agreed to consummate the contract on the Fourth of July. The Fourth came, and notwithstanding the balloon ascension, the fire works and the extreme heat, plaintiff was ready. The defendant, however, failed to show up and has never since come to time. The plaintiff has been willin' ever since the 4th, and now her heart is bleeding. It will require a $3,000 plaster to heal the wound, so she thinks, and she asks the court to compel Leroy to apply such a poultice.

THE BALL ROLLING.

Water Works Meeting In the Seventh Ward Last Night.

Speeches By Capt. Hettler, James E. Graham and George Jacoby.

A fair audience assembled at the seventh ward engine house last night to hear a further discussion of the water works question. The meeting was organized by the election of Geo. Jacoby chairman, after which Capt. Hettler was called on and responded with a short address, which was conclusive and to the point. The speaker referred to the short time which was left for the people to decide whether they would have water works in which they would be stockholders or whether they would have a monopoly. Terre Haute was pointed out as an instance where the city was burdened by a water works monopoly. Fort Wayne has been extremely fortunate in regard to fires in the past, but it has been pure good fortune, and cannot be depended on. Even a private company would give the outside wards no protection in that respect, as they would only run their mains through the business and richer portion of the city. It has been charged that the council, after the people had voted for water works, would go back on the outside wards and also that $270,000 would not build the works. He had only to say that the people's own good judgment would teach them better than that, for as long as the outside wards had ten councilmen no such a scheme could be carried out even if it should be devised. The waterworks debt would not be a tax eating debt but would soon become a tax paying debt. The fund would be automatic; it would pay itself. Our waterworks system is the most scientific that can be produced. Well water for domestic purposes and river water by direct pressure for fire purposes. At the same time, during the construction of the works, a number of our own workmen would have work and afterwards new manufacturers would spring up and afford them constant employment. The question simply is, will the city pay taxes for water works or will we have works which will pay tax to the city.

The chairman being called upon made a few remarks expressing himself strongly in favor of water works. James E. Graham next took the floor at the call of the audience and stated that, although he could say nothing new, yet from the fact that his ward was as much interested as any ward in the city, he wanted to help to impress on the minds of his fellow-citizens the importance of their votes on next Tuesday. He said that water works would increase the demand for labor, and that all of the $370,000, except possibly what would be expended for pipes and engines, would be distributed among the working men of Fort Wayne, and already he sees signs that even the pipes would be manufactured in this city. Some persons claim that the work will cost a great deal more than the estimated price. Yet he has never found a man who could give any reliable data for such a statement. Mr. Cook has given his lifetime to estimates and figures and he would hardly risk his well-known reputation by lying to the Fort Wayne people. Two hundred and seventy thousand dollars is $110,000 less than the estimated cost two years ago. The interest now will be 6 percent instead of 8 percent, and the bonds will sell at par. The bonds will be sold and the money will be brought here instead of taking the money away, and at the very least calculation $170,000 of this amount will be left with the workingmen of this city. There is an emergency. The constitutional amendment will surely be adopted next spring, and that cannot, like a law, be repealed, and water works by the city will be cut off forever. The saving that will accrue in the fire department, and the rents that will be received from the different manufacturers and railroads will pay the interest, so that the taxes next year will not be raised a mill. Private works would not extend pipes south of the railroad for at least ten years. Fort Wayne has the least assessment of any city of its size in the state, and is third in size and should not disgrace itself by voting it down. The speaker referred to a circular which was being circulated in an obscure sheet in this city, by a gentleman who had a water privilege to sell, who thought that the water on his property was distilled in heaven dripped through a bevy of angels and contained all the elements of life and health, and the object of that circular was begotten by selfishness and would have no effect with honest men. In conclusion, if you will do right, vote for waterworks, if not vote against them, but consider well and vote for your own interest.

Capt. Hettler again cautioned the people against being deceived by any false representation and gave Mr. Orr a clever parting shot. The speakers were frequently interrupted by applause and at the conclusion a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hettler for his address. The ward has as yet appointed no committee owing to the fact that so many of the residents were railroad men, who did not know when they would be in the city. Strong committees will be appointed on Monday evening.

Railroader Heard From Again. To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

Fort Wayne, Aug. 1, 1879.—Some one signing himself "Water Works" has made an attempt to answer my article, and tries to plaster Mr. Mohr's opposition to water works over with a very thin coat. As to him (Mr. Mohr) canvassing the ward it is all bosh, for if required I can tell you of persons in this ward who were solid for water works until he (Mr. Mohr) made them believe that a company water works would cost them nothing unless they were consumers of water. As to "a year hence" that was a mistake of mine, and I am thankful for the correction. As to "hurting the cause," far from it, for I verily believe that "Water Works" is opposed to water works. RAILROADER.

THE RAILROADS.

Supt. Worthington has returned home.

Supt. O'Rourke left for Grand Rapids to-day.

The Pittsburgh sent 108 cars of stock east to-day.

The Pittsburgh telegraph office is solid for water works.

Engine No. 181 goes out of the Pittsburgh shops to-day.

The Pittsburgh sends an average of 450 cars out of Chicago weekly.

The demilint of two cars delayed Muncie trains several hours yesterday.

Engineer Greenich has severed his connection with the Pittsburgh company.

Engine No. 157, now being built in the Pittsburgh shops, will be the largest ever built in this city.

The whole crew of the train which ran into the Rock Island train, at the Rock Island crossing, on Wednesday, has been discharged.

Passenger travel on the Grand Rapids road is 50 percent better than last year. On the Pittsburgh there is an increase of 13 percent.

The Toledo and Wabash company have opened bids for $1,000,000 bonds, which bear interest at the rate of 7 percent and have thirty years to run. The total subscriptions were about $1,500,000.

The Gazette is responsible for the following: Yesterday morning, as the Plymouth accommodation was coming in on the Port Wayne, a horse was discovered on the track just west of the city. The engine slackened up as it approached the culvert, and to the surprise of every one the horse kept the track, walked the thirty-foot culvert on the rail, and arrived on the other side, where he left the track and the train went on.

Arrangements are said to be pending by which the management of the Union Pacific and Pennsylvania railroads will work together. By the consolidation of the Wabash and the Kansas City, St. Louis and Northern with the Wabash, the Union Pacific interests have secured lines to St. Louis and as far east as Toledo. Vigorous backing in the Mississippi valley and to the west by the Union Pacific would unquestionably give the Pennsylvania road a commanding position in the grain trade of the near future, to say nothing of other obvious advantages in through traffic generally.

This afternoon about 1 o'clock two individuals named Jacob Mascheimer and John G. Shaffer concluded to test each other's muscle. Accordingly they "went" at each other with a will, and were it not that an officer happened along at the time, we might be able to furnish our readers with a curdler of the blood. They were pretty well battered, however, and the mayor will be told how it occurred, to-morrow morning.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Godman took place this afternoon at Lafayette.

POLICE COURT.

Several Interesting Cases Before His Honor.

Scenes in a High and Mighty Tribunal.

The sun looked down in accents sweet. And murmured low at Bingen on the Rhine.

That is poetry; but the poetry of the above was knocked skywards by the sublime look of innocence of Joseph McFarland, as he answered to the polite invitation of the marshal and took his seat. Joseph measures exactly five feet in height, and his solid contents are supposed to be about 12,096 cubic inches, and Joseph's frantic endeavors to hold 130,000 cubic inches of beer, dry measure, is what raised the racket. Joseph said he wasn't drunk, but was sun-struck at Terre Haute about a week ago, and yesterday he took a glass of sour milk and water which the same it settled in his joints and made locomotion difficult. He explained privately to the reporter that he was speechless for eight hours, during which time the doctors wanted to take him to the hospital, but Joe objected and said he would rather try and crawl home. How a speechless man could express himself in so pointed a manner is one of those things which no fellow can find out. The mayor explained that sour milk and water was worse to take than a dog button, and the city was infested with fiends who made it their sole object to rope unsuspecting innocents into drinking sour milk for the villainous purpose of creating a hog famine next year, and as a punishment on those villains he would take Joseph out of harm's way for ten days. Joseph stated that pressing business at Mishawaka, Mich., demanded his immediate attention.

"My Christian friend, cork up your head, or I'll give you ten days," the mayor said.

The marshal bowed, the mayor solemnly stilledness pervaded the air as Christian Bower and Emanuel Bower stepped to the front with a dignified demeanor. It was a clear case. Drunk, sublimely and gloriously drunk, was the matter. They came to town and they sucked through a straw, and if there is anything in God's footstool that will make a man forget his name, it is sucking through a straw. They came to town to start a bank to build water works, or take a bum—anything that offered itself. The bum came first. Emanuel spoke. He was the St. Paul of the crowd. O'Connell said he found them asleep on a stairway on Calhoun street at 1 o'clock.

"No, zur; no, zur; Josh was no so. Nix one o'clock."

"Well, what time was it?"

"Wale, wale; it wash, it wash. Wale wot time you tink wash?"

"One o'clock."

"No, zur; no, zur."

Mayor—"Shut up."

Marshal—"Shut up."

Chorus—"Shut up."

"All arise."

"Well, gentlemen, have you ever heard or read, in your father's house are many mansions prepared for you, etc., where moths do not corrupt nor thieves break through and steal? or words to that effect? You have. Well, father is out of town, but Charlie Munson is running the ranch and Charlie will accommodate you for ten days. Give him my card and he will give you rooms on the ground floor, drop your valuables in the canal and may your shadow never grow less, as it were. Good day."

John Hueston would build a build but he would not get a build permit after being notified.

Five and five and five are fifteen, five, one to carry and six and two and seven are sixteen, six, one to carry and two and two and one are six. Six dollars and sixty-five cents, plus two dollars, are eight dollars and sixty-five cents, Mr. Hueston.

He groaned, but paid.

The mayor announced that the city clerk had just got on a new lot of building permits in all the latest styles, and intending to close out to make room for a new stock, he would sell them regardless of cost at fifty cents each.

THE BALL ROLLING.

Water Works Meeting In the Seventh Ward Last Night.

Speeches By Capt. Hettler, James E. Graham and George Jacoby.

A fair audience assembled at the seventh ward engine house last night to hear a further discussion of the water works question. The meeting was organized by the election of Geo. Jacoby chairman, after which Capt. Hettler was called on and responded with a short address, which was conclusive and to the point. The speaker referred to the short time which was left for the people to decide whether they would have water works or whether they would have a monopoly. Terre Haute was pointed out as an instance where the city was burdened by a water works monopoly. Fort Wayne has been extremely fortunate in regard to fires in the past, but it has been pure good fortune, and cannot be depended on. Even a private company would give the outside wards no protection in that respect, as they would only run their mains through the business and richer portion of the city. It has been charged that the council, after the people had voted for water works, would go back on the outside wards and also that $270,000 would not build the works. He had only to say that the people's own good judgment would teach them better than that, for as long as the outside wards had ten councilmen no such a scheme could be carried out even if it should be devised. The waterworks debt would not be a tax eating debt but would soon become a tax paying debt. The fund would be automatic; it would pay itself. Our waterworks system is the most scientific that can be produced. Well water for domestic purposes and river water by direct pressure for fire purposes. At the same time, during the construction of the works, a number of our own workmen would have work and afterwards new manufacturers would spring up and afford them constant employment. The question simply is, will the city pay taxes for water works or will we have works which will pay tax to the city.

The chairman being called upon made a few remarks expressing himself strongly in favor of water works.

James E. Graham next took the floor at the call of the audience and stated that, although he could say nothing new, yet from the fact that his ward was much interested as any ward in the city, he wanted to help to impress on the minds of his fellow-citizens the importance of their votes on next Tuesday. He said that water works would increase the demand for labor, and that all of the $270,000, except possibly what would be expended for pipes and engines, would be distributed among the working men of Fort Wayne, and already he sees signs that even the pipes would be manufactured in this city. Some persons claim that the work will cost a great deal more than the estimated price. Yet he has never found a man who could give any reliable data for such a statement. Mr. Cook has given his lifetime to estimates and figures and he would hardly risk his well-known reputation by lying to the Fort Wayne people. Two hundred and seventy thousand dollars is $110,000 less than the estimated cost two years ago. The interest now will be 6 percent instead of 8 percent, and the bonds will sell at par. The bonds will be sold and the money will be brought here instead of taking the money away, and at the very least calculation $170,000 of this amount will be left with the workmen of this city. There is an emergency. The constitutional amendment will surely be adopted next spring, and that cannot, like a law, be repealed, and the bonds will be sold and the money will be brought here instead of taking the money away, and at the very least calculation $170,000 of this amount will be left with the workmen of this city. The speakers were frequently interrupted by applause and at the conclusion a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hettler for his address.

The ward has as yet appointed no committees owing to the fact that so many of the residents were railroad men, who did not know when they would be in the city. Strong committees will be appointed on Monday evening.

Railroaders Heard From Again.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

Fort Wayne, Aug. 1, 1879.—Some one signing himself "Water Works" has made an attempt to answer my article, and tries to plaster Mr. Mohr's opposition to water works over with a very thin coat. As to him (Mr. Mohr) canvassing the ward it is all booh, for if required I can tell you of persons in this ward who were solid for water works until he (Mr. Mohr) made them believe that a company water works would cost them nothing unless they were consumers of water. As to "a year hence" that was a mistake of mine, and I am thankful for the correction. As to "hurting the cause," far from it, for I verily believe that "Water Works" is opposed to water works. RAILROADER.

P. S.—Will "Water Works" or Mr. Mohr himself please give us some reasons for opposing water works. They will be duly appreciated and used as references in the future. RAILROADER.

THE RAILROADS.

Supt. Worthington has returned home.

Supt. O'Rourke left for Grand Rapids to-day.

The Pittsburgh sent 103 cars of stock east to-day.

The Pittsburgh telegraph office is solid for water works.

Engine No. 181 goes out of the Pittsburgh shops to-day.

The Pittsburgh sends an average of 450 cars out of Chicago weekly.

The derailment of two cars delayed Muncie trains several hours yesterday.

Engineer Greenich has severed his connection with the Pittsburgh company.

Engine No. 157, now being built in the Pittsburgh shops, will be the largest ever built in this city.

Tom Tulley, the engineer, yesterday purchased forty acres of bottom land two miles east of New Haven.

The whole crew of the train which ran into the Rock Island train, at the Rock Island crossing, on Wednesday, has been discharged.

Passenger travel on the Grand Rapids road is 50 percent better than last year. On the Pittsburgh there is an increase of 13 percent.

The Toledo and Wabash company have opened bids for $1,000,000 bonds, which bear interest at the rate of 7 percent and have thirty years to run. The total subscriptions were about $1,500,000.

The Gazette is responsible for the following: Yesterday morning, as the Plymouth accommodation was coming in on the Fort Wayne, a horse was discovered on the track just west of the city. The engine slackened up as it approached the culvert, and to the surprise of every one the horse kept the track, walked the thirty-foot culvert on the rail, and arrived on the other side, where he left the track and the train went on.

Arrangements are said to be pending by which the management of the Union Pacific and Pennsylvania railroads will work together. By the consolidation of the Wabash and the Kansas City, St. Louis and Northern with the Wabash, the Union Pacific interests have secured lines to St. Louis and as far east as Toledo. Vigorous backing in the Mississippi valley and to the west by the Union Pacific would unquestionably give the Pennsylvania road a commanding position in the grain trade of the near future, to say nothing of other obvious advantages in through traffic generally.

This afternoon about 1 o'clock two individuals named Jacob Moschmeier and John G. Shaffer concluded to test each other's muscle. Accordingly they "went" at each other with a will, and were it not that an officer happened along at the time, we might be able to furnish our readers with a carder of the blood. They were a pretty well battered, however, and the mayor will be told how it occurred, to-morrow morning.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Godman took place this afternoon at Lafayette.
